EN.VALUE: Patrick Lux now leaving the company - team to be further expanded

Freiburg, September 13, 2022. As of September 30, 2022, Patrick Lux will be leaving EN. VALUE and focusing primarily on his activities as interim CFO at an EN.VALUE client. His additional projects will be managed again by EN.VALUE founder and CEO Ulrich Kenk. The specialized consulting company for all finance topics and processes has advanced dynamically in recent years, generating double-digit growth rates, both with consulting mandates as well as with outsourcing services in the finance area. The team of experts is therefore being continuously expanded.

"We would like to thank Patrick Lux for the good cooperation and his valued contributions during his work at EN.VALUE and wish him all the best for the future," as Ulrich Kenk stated. Patrick Lux had joined the Freiburg-based consultancy in October 2021 from Blackforest Medical Group as co-managing director alongside EN.VALUE founder and shareholder Ulrich Kenk.

"The decision to leave EN.VALUE in order to focus on a client even more strongly in operational terms was not an easy one for me to take," explains Patrick Lux. "I will remain connected to EN.VALUE in the future, because I have learned to greatly appreciate the expertise of my colleagues there in the course of our joint work. I look forward to continuing to implement projects with EN.VALUE in a different constellation. "

Double-digit growth expected again - team to be further expanded

"Against the backdrop of the very sound order situation, we will be expanding our team with additional finance specialists as planned. Particularly in uncertain economic times, when many companies are 'navigating by sight', the transparency of figures is essential. This is precisely where we come in with our services. "

EN.VALUE is anticipating double-digit revenue growth once again in fiscal year 2022.
